ABSTRACT

Give a brief summary of the education proposal.

This proposal is for grant to develop an educational product / presentation on Aviation for the Medical Director. The genesis for this product began at AMTC 2006. During the Medical Director Core Curriculum it became clear that many medical directors are inadequately prepared to address issues in aviation.

The purpose of this project is to develop an educational product for medical directors and air medical crews. This product will address issues in aviation that directly affect the provision of aeromedical transport services. Ultimately the goal is to educate medical directors and aeromedical crews so that they may better understand aviation issues that affect their ability to transport patients safely and efficiently. By educating the directors and crews it is hoped that they may further educate their customers in the appropriate and safe utilization of aeromedical services.

The specific goals of this project are threefold:

1. Develop an educational presentation for inclusion at the AMTC 2007 conference general assembly
2. Develop an educational presentation for inclusion at the AMPA Core Curriculum for Medical Directors in 2007 or 2008
3. Develop an educational product that is easily accessible and updateable for the Aeromedical Medical Director Community.
